Organ Transplantation: Ethical, Legal and Psychosocial Aspects Expanding the European Platform

This book is based on the International Congress "Organ Transplantation: Ethical, Legal and Psychosocial Aspects. Expanding the European Platform" (Rotterdam, The Netherlands, April 2010).

The contributions are an overview of current issues in the field of transplantation ethics.

The topics:

- Organ Tourism and Paid Donation;
- Legal and Ethical Boundaries for Organ Transplantation;
- Diverse Populations;
- Deceased Donation;
- Psychological Care for Living Donors and Recipients;
- Samaritan / Unrelated Donation;

are discussed among ethicists, clinicians, psychologists, lawyers and policy makers in the field of organ transplantation.

The ELPAT platform was initiated with the aim to establish continuity in European communication on 'Ethical, Legal and Psychosocial Aspects of Organ Transplantation (ELPAT)', after several ad hoc conferences had been organised in the last two decades. ELPAT aims to facilitate and structure the European research area in this field of science. It is now an official body within the European Society for Organ Transplantation (www.elpat.org).

Proceedings of the 4th ELPAT congress	141

Guest Editor:
Prof. Willem Weimar, MD, PhD, Rotterdam

Welcome!

Dear Colleague.

On behalf of the organizing committee it is our pleasure to invite you to the 4th ELPAT Congress on Ethical, Legal and Psychosocial Aspects of Organ Transplantation. The congress will take place from 22-25 April 2016 in the Angelicum Congress Centre, Rome, Italy.

This conference is unique. It is different to other medically-oriented transplant conferences in that it addresses all other aspects of transplantation: ethical, legal, and psychosocial. Experts from all over the world will express their views on overcoming global transplant challenges. The conference welcomes professionals including ethicists, philosophers, physicians, lawyers, criminologists, anthropologists, psychologists, coordinators, nurse practitioners and policy-makers involved in the field of organ donation and transplantation.

ELPAT is an interactive platform that supports the exchange of knowledge, ideas, and experiences by encouraging dialogue and facilitating research. ELPAT is an official Committee of the European Society for Organ Transplantation (ESOT) and was founded during the 1st congress in April 2007 in Rotterdam, The Netherlands. The 2nd congress was held in April 2010 with the aim of expanding the European platform to new EU Member States. The 3rd congress was held in April 2013 with the aim of bridging the divide between international commitments, global outreach and realisation of their potential to improve lives of patients across the world. The 4th congress aims to bring together various disciplines to address global challenges in organ transplantation.

We will achieve these aims through interactive plenary debates, innovative focus sessions, and in-depth workshops on topics that are relevant to transplant professionals worldwide. Submitted abstracts will be clustered according to theme or integrated into the focus sessions and workshops. In addition, there are 2 all-day sessions on hot topics for clinicians. There will of course also be opportunities for networking through social and cultural activities.

We trust that you will enjoy not only our conference, but also the history, culinary delights and ancient architecture of Rome.

We look forward to meeting you in Rome.

Yours sincerely,

Willem Weimar (The Netherlands) and Franco Citterio (Italy),

The historical site known simply as the Angelicum in Rome is located in the precise geographical centre of the city and dates back to 1569. Along with the annexed Convent and Baroque Church of Saints Dominic and Sixtus, the property is also home to the Pontifical University of St. Thomas Aquinas, one of the Vatican's most important and prestigious places of learning for intellectuals in the Catholic world. The Angelicum Conference Centre, with its two auditoriums and 11 smaller meeting rooms, encapsulates the original cloister, which contains the garden and fountain and forms the heart of the Angelicum site. Richly steeped in history, the Angelicum has received Popes, heads of state and many of the most powerful and important figures of the last 300 years.
